An Investigation Discloses Some Very 450 Weak Spots in the Democratic Platform.
Aside from the tariff work of the Demo 1000 cratic platform-makers at St. Louis, they put together several very rotten planks, composed mainly of sheer impudence. Most brazen and offensive of these is the one which reads as follows:

comprise Newton. Hutchinson and Salina, are anxious to have Wichita come in and take Denver's place of the rights and the welfare of all the people have been guarded and defended; suffrage, for blacks and whites alike, was not a thing to be tolerated in the former slave States. To quote its own words: 'Manhood suffrage' in the South has proven a ghestly and most costly failure. Its history for eight years is written in plunder, oppres-sion and bloody reprisals of the harried and rabid white citizens. It can never be tried again under the same conditions. An attempt to renew it would be the beginning of civil war of the guardla pattern, that would convert the South into a desert."

Do the foregoing sentences sound like the equality of all our citizens before the law, without regard to race or color?" The Chattanooga paper merely confesses what every man not hopelessly ignorant knows. The fact is that Northern supporters of the Southern party simply wink at the grossest violations of the constitutional law of the land. In a candid mood almost any Demoout of four he will add they ought not to have right of suffrage in the sense that white men possess it. Nevertheless, the St. Louis convention dares to make the rights of the colored race a plank in its plat-

If, says the Cieveland Leader, the bullying of Mexico in the Cutting case and the weak-kneed treatment of the fisheries dispute with Great Britain had been matters ago, there might have been some shrewdever was thought of its honesty. With both of these exhibitions of incapacity, however, fresh in the memory of the public, the old lie is sure to react upon its authors. No Democrat can point to a single incident connected with the foreign relations of the United States since Cleveland's inauguration which lends it dignity or honor, or entitles it to the confidence of the people.

In an involved and obscure "challenge" to "searching inquiry" concerning the deplatform is intended to convey the impres-sion that something important has been done toward the reduction of taxation, the improvement of the currency system, and the payment of the public debt. All that is nothing but bombast. The currency remains fortunately as the Republicans left it in 1885. The debt has been reduced no more than it had to be through the operation of the fiscal system handed over to the Democrats when President Arthur retired. The accumulation of money in the Treasury has been greater and more dangerous than ever before, and the payments on the interest-bearing debt have been very small in comparison with the resources of the Government. The financial situation has been more critical under Grover Cleveland than ever before in many years, as every intelligent man knows, and altogether the Administration has nothing to beast of in this great department of the Government.

So it is, in greater or less degree, with the rest of the platform. Its planks are rotten with deceit and bollow with brava-do. The whole structure will be ridiculed by the American people and smashed at the The country wants something better and more solid than impudence and false-
